REGRET VOICED AT M.P.'S DEATH

Leaders in Commons Speak of Career of Late Armand
Lavergne

Ottawa, March 6.—Regret at the death of Armand Lavergne, Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons and member for Montserrat, Que., was expressed today in the House by Sir George Perley, Acting Prime Minister.

Mr. Lavergne had a "very colorful career," said Sir George, as he recalled the Deputy Speaker had first entered the Commons in 1904 when he was only twenty-four years old. He commented on his long illness, which had kept him from regular attendance at the House during recent years, and extended the sympathy of the government and the House to his family.

LIBERAL LEADER King joined with Sir George in this expression of regret and sympathy.

Mr. Lavergne was always a man of independent views, said Mr. King. He had relations with various political parties and had never been particularly happy with any of them. It was difficult to estimate the service of a man of independent and critical views to the country. Sometimes political success depended on a man's ability to accommodate himself to the views of those around him, but independence and courage always had their place in public life.

A similar expression of sympathy and regret came from Robert Gordon, leader of the United Farmers of Alberta.

Speaking in French, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Liberal, Quebec East, referred to Mr. Lavergne's vigorous fight for the rights of the French-speaking minority and his contribution to development of French culture in Canada.

Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General, also spoke in French to the same effect.

TRIBUTE BY MR. TACHELAREAU
Quebec, March 6.—Tribute to Armand Lavergne, M.C., Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons, who died in Ottawa yesterday, was paid in the Quebec Legislative Assembly by Premier L. A. Tachereau.

"While we did not always agree with Mr. Lavergne, who was our colleague here in the House for a number of years, and while he by no means always agreed with us," said the Premier, "I wish to pay homage to his patriotism, his sincerity and above all, for his great efforts for the survival of French-Canadian traditions in this province."

LIVELY DEBATE STAGED IN U.S.

New York, March 6.—Denouncing United States Senator Huey P. Long and Rev. Charles E. Coughlin as "pied pipers" preaching revolution, Brig-General Hugh S. Johnson holds out to the United States two choices.

1. Return to the "solidarity and enthusiasm" which backed President Roosevelt in 1933, or

2. Dictatorship and chaos.

The former NRA administrator, who has been in the United States since November 1, 1933, to promote the "Playable Putsch" and "Political Putsch," he called them — at a dinner in his honor, held here.

"Whether consciously or not," he said, "these two men are raging up and down this land, preaching not reform but revolution, not peace but war."

LONG REPLIES
Mr. Johnson said he expected them to hit back, and Long did it promptly.

"Those wrecked from Wall Street," shouted the Senator in Washington, yesterday, "ruined Woodrow Wilson, Herbert Hoover and President Roosevelt. I'll cover Johnson's case from hell to breakfast in a speech Thursday night."

Johnson called the Louisiana senator and the Michigan priest leaders of the "emotion fringe," and adding that "any desperate person is a candidate to join it," warned that $9,000,000 deposited in the Federal Reserve Bank at disaster in any way that is shown them."

"NEVER GREATER MENACE"
"You can laugh at Father Coughlin," declared the general, "you can snort at Huey Long, but this country is now under a greater menace than from the breakup of spontaneous popular co-operation that is being engineered by this pair."

TAR SANDS ARE TO YIELD PROFIT
Canadian Press
Edmonton, March 6.—Ultimate estimation of a $5,000,000 industry for production and distribution of products taken from tar sands in the country immediately north of Edmonton, which will expend annually hundreds of thousands of dollars within Alberta, was visioned by Max W. Bell, Denver and Toronto petroleum engineer, who addressed members of the agricultural committee of the Alberta Legislature yesterday.

He outlined plans being made by his company, Canadian Northern Oil Sands Limited, for the early erection of a test separation plant to be established just south of Waterways, and reported the objective of the company was to put the industry on a 3,000-ton-a-day basis for profitable commercial operation.

C.N.R. AUDITORS' BILL IS PASSED

Ottawa, March 6.—The government bill making a switch in Canadian National Railway auditors was given third reading in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. It names Clark, Gordon, Birtwell, Cull-Taylor and Bush of Toronto in place of George A. Touche and Company.

Just before the bill passed, J. F. Poultice, Liberal, Timmins, Que., suggested the Toronto firm be appointed auditors of the Canadian Pacific Railway. In that position they could watch the Dominion's big loan guarantee of $60,000,000, he said.

PREMIER HAS BIRTHDAY

Quebec, March 6. (Canadian Press).—When Premier L. A. Tachereau walked to his seat in the Quebec Legislative Assembly yesterday afternoon he found a bouquet of fifty-eight roses on his desk—the tribute of the House on the occasion of the sixty-eighth anniversary of his birth.

LATE OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES

AGED EX-JUDGE OF U.S. PASSES

to be read as examples of liberal jurisprudence and of fine literature. He retired in January, 1932.

Word of his death was quickly distributed to the White House. President Roosevelt was among the host of men in many walks of life who had kept close in touch with the old but brilliant jurist.

His death was a blow to the nation, for he was one of the great jurists of the United States.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, oldest man to hold a seat on the Supreme Court of the United States, was "the great dissenter" to one legal generation and the apostle of human rights as opposed to the rights of property.

He lived long enough to have the pleasant experience of seeing views he had expressed as leader of a minority become the guides of a majority of the high tribunal, a development which made for him a place all his own in the history of United States jurisprudence.

For close to half a century he served continuously as a judge, state or federal, and only the physical burdens of ninety-one years finally forced him to write his resignation. Beginning December 8, 1933, he was a justice of the Massachusetts supreme judicial court for seventeen years and then chief justice for three years. From that post he was elevated to the public's highest court in December, 1902, by President Theodore Roosevelt. He wrote his resignation on January 11, 1932.

KNOWN AS PROGRESSIVE

Born in an atmosphere of the best American traditions, Justice Holmes supported the rights of man as paramount to property rights. He interpreted laws as vehicles for effecting man's will and consistently maintained throughout his long judicial career an attitude which stamped him as a progressive as distinguished from a conservative or reactionary.

From his father, Justice of the Supreme Court, and his mother, the daughter of a chief justice of the highest court of Massachusetts, he inherited cheerfulness and vivacity, sympathetic humor and wit. He spoke with a pronounced Boston accent and twinkling eyes, his face generally showing a friendly smile regardless of the cutting edge of his words. Seldom was he provoked into a frown.

UNDERWENT OPERATIONS

Although three wounded in the Civil War, he was not materially hurt. He was in the hospital after celebrating his eighty-first birthday, he submitted to two major operations. But they gave him a new lease on life. Prior to that his friends were drawing to a close.

NOTED FOR DICTION

His opinions from the bench were classic, gems of exquisite diction, the essence of brevity, appealing alike to layman and lawyer through their logic. They contained literary and judicial suggestions for those who looked under the golden surface of his words.

ATTENDED HARVARD

Born in Boston, March 8, 1841, Justice Holmes had a common school education before entering Harvard, where he was about to graduate when the Civil War broke in the spring of 1861. He at once volunteered, serving as a private in the 20th Maine.

At Ball's Bluff, near Washington, he was shot through the chest. On the battlefield of Antietam, as an army surgeon, he was wounded.

Entering the war a first lieutenant in the Twentieth Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, he earned a captaincy and was discharged with the honor of colonel.

He was only twenty-three when the war ended and he returned to Harvard. Within two years he had graduated in law and engaged in private practice in Boston.

At the age of thirty-one he married Miss Fanny Duffell of Cambridge, Mass. Their honeymoon lasted fifty-seven years until her death on April 30, 1920. They had no children.

The Civil War lived vividly in the memory of Justice Holmes and he never said:

"When the ghosts of dead lives begin to play in my head, the law is my friend."

British Labor Plans Platform

Party Ready For Election;
Policy Creation of Socialist
Commonwealth and Peace

By GEORGE HAMILTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, March 6.—The British Labor Party has cast its line for a general election in the fall. National conferences have approved its program of action. The election may not come. Ministers of the crown have said in positive declarations there will be no dissolution this year. Yet Labor is organizing. And its policy is the creation of a new social order, a British Socialist Commonwealth—and peace.

The great dominating aim is peace—organization of peace through the League of Nations, removal of causes of war. There are to be no secret alliances, treaties or engagements of any kind. A Labor government would pass a peace act of parliament which would:

1. Make it impossible for any British government to use force as an instrument of national policy without violating the law of the land.

2. Empower the government to apply any economic and financial measures immediately to take its share in collective action.

PEACE MACHINE
It would create machinery and obligations for settling all international disputes by pacific methods. It would provide for the disarmament by rapid stages through international agreement, with the object of ultimate abolition of national armed forces and their replacement by an international police force.

ELECTION SOON IN HUNGARY

Reshuffled Cabinet Fails to Find Expected Support in Chamber

Canadian Press From Paris
Budapest, Hungary, March 6.—Opposition in parliament to the reshuffled cabinet of Premier Julius Gombosi yesterday afternoon led to the government's decision to order the chamber's dissolution.

The new parliament is to be elected within ten days, and its first session was set for April 27.

The cabinet was reshuffled Monday and it was indicated the new lineup was assured the support of an absolute majority in the Chamber of Deputies.

When the government faced parliament, however, the new setup was refused the necessary support and dissolution was ordered immediately. After elections appeared the only means of solving Hungary's political crisis, brought to a head by the end of the true between former Premier Bethlen and Gombosi.

A dispatch from Budapest Monday evening said:

Hungary is heading for national socialism, political observers here charged to-night, pointing to the similarity between the programme announced by the new government and that of the Nazis, and the rise to power in Germany.

SUICIDE TOTAL IS REDUCED

Coroner of York, England,
Induces Papers to Publish
Few Details

Canadian Press
London, March 6.—Through co-operation of the press, says Lieut.-Col. Innes Ware, coronor of York, he has been able to reduce a certain type of suicide in one week riding town up nearly 100 per cent. His suggestion that full details in these cases be not reported was adopted. He believes lack of publicity would virtually eliminate the "imitative suicide."

Lieut.-Col. Ware has made a careful study of religious beliefs held by those who take their lives. In a long experience he has had to lay a suicide inquest on only one Jew and only two Roman Catholics. In both those religions, he says, self-destruction is regarded as one of the most heinous sins.

He is unable to accept the common assertion that a person who commits suicide is insane. "In my experience at least he is not perfectly sane when they do it, and they intend to do it for the purpose of avoiding their responsibilities in this life," he says. "I base that on my own experience as on what I have read by reliable people who have studied the subject."

RIVER FLOOD DANGERS SEEN

Canadian Press
Vancouver, March 6.—Precipitation throughout British Columbia has been heavier than usual this winter, according to District Chief Engineer C. E. Webb of the Dominion Water Power and Hydropower Bureau.

At present, however, there is only average depth of snow on the hills due to heavy rainfall in late January and early February, he said. Run-off during these two months was above normal. Snow on the high levels may cause more than average high water in major streams should spring be late.

Snowfall in the Cariboo, Kamloops and Okanagan areas and the Columbia and Kootenay basins has been above average, he said. Flood stages may be reached in some streams during the summer.

Highest recorded was registered at Coquihalla, 3,525 feet altitude, with 448 inches. The wettest spot in the lower 100 inches of rain were recorded.

Dynamite Put In Fire; No Explosion

Canadian Press
Edmonton, March 6.—Three boys thanked their lucky stars to-day because three sticks of dynamite failed to explode when they experimented by throwing them into a bonfire which they had built for their "scientific investigation."

The sticks were part of a load of fourteen allegedly snatched out of a warehouse, and the fire was built in a nearby vacant lot. The rest of the dynamite was cached in old machinery on the lot and was found by police. The boys are to appear in court on a charge of theft.

NOTES OF THE LEGISLATURE

Gold Quartz and Newmont will mean to that district what Pioneer and Brinkman have meant to Bridge River, said Major MacKay.

"The continual improvement of the roads of British Columbia is not economically sound,"—Major MacKay.

"We don't want our sons to be flung for tourists,"—Ernest Bakewell.

"Monetary reformers are soon going to persuade the world that gold is not necessary for international commerce,"—Mr. Bakewell.

"I would suggest to the Premier he is not so omniscient as he is omnipotent,"—Ernest Bakewell.

"We have at the material and all the men right in the province to do our public works, but we can't do them unless the financiers in New York and Montreal say we can,"—Mr. Bakewell.

William Adams, eighty years of age, and a member of the B.C. Legislature for forty years ago, is maintaining a family in comfort on five acres of land in Lillooet, George Murray, Liberal, Lillooet, told the Legislature.

Claiming relief cheques were too easily secured in the village of Lillooet, Mr. Murray said at one time a hundred were issued each month. On investigation the number was cut to thirty. There was no need for any relief except to disabled and aged people, he claimed.

Thomas Uphill, Fernie, lead the applause, in fact he was practically the only one who applauded when Mr. Murray complimented Vancouver on electing C. G. McGeer as mayor.

"A man who talks of secession is not doing his best for the future of the province,"—Mr. Murray.

Property at Goldbridge sold at $2,500 an acre last year. Was that depression? asked Mr. Murray.

The irrefragable Mr. Uphill was severely reprimanded by Mr. Speaker when he tried to interrupt while not sitting in his own seat.

While a number of unimportant bills were going quickly through committee, H. W. Bruhn, Salmon Arm, suddenly suggested that a bill should read one particular section: "just to hear his euphonious voice," as Premier Pattullo put it.

A. M. Manson, Liberal, Okanogan, was added to the public accounts committee yesterday.

Report of the Provincial Library Commission was submitted by Hon. O. M. Weir.

"It is more difficult to keep a cool head in a crisis, as the government has done, than to scream and screech from the house,"—Dr. Allen Harris.

The people of the Okanagan have just as much right to free transportation across the Fraser Valley as have the people of the Fraser Valley to free transportation across the Fraser River, said Dr. Harris, criticizing claims advanced by some interests that there should be no tolls on the new Fraser River Bridge at New Westminster.

All the mainline members applauded when Dr. Harris said he could not agree with speakers who thank the government for the assistance given him in establishing the by-product industry in the Okanagan.

When Dr. Harris produced a tin of sardines in the House to demonstrate the Norwegian method of packing them in aluminum, the House showed great interest.

"Old Man Depression has turned 'Tottenham Corner' and soon will be lost in the dust of a long, long nightmare,"—Frank Futamura.

"The mining industry has put more men to work than any other industry in the province in the last few years,"—Mr. Futamura.

"Roads are sometimes built for other purposes than for gratifying politicians, for industries or for the tourist dollar,"—Hugh Savage, advocating more attention to the defence of the country.

"Honesty is the best policy in finances as well as everything else,"—Mr. Savage.

"Secession talk is not only ridiculous, but it is dangerous. Our economic position in Canada is not the only thing we have to consider,"—Mr. Savage.

China Wants More Trade With the U.S.

Associated Press
Seattle, March 6.—Nationalist China, hurrying toward her place in the sun, is anxious for great increases in her trade with the United States, according to Consul E. Ying Lo, said yesterday in a statement commending a Chinese embassy memorial in the Washington state legislature.

This memorial, addressed to the Congress of the United States, and introduced by Representative Ben Strickland of King County, said the consul, "is a gracious gesture of the Pacific Northwest toward my country, and it will be appreciated. It cites many of the reasons why the United States Legation in China should be raised to the dignity of an embassy."

BIG NEW PLANT FOR BURNABY

Canadian Press
Burnaby, B.C., March 6.—Dent Limited, a newly formed Vancouver company, will build a $250,000 petroleum refining plant here, according to Commissioner Hugh M. Fraser, announced to-day. Forty acres of the site land facing on Burrard Inlet had been sold to the company with the understanding construction of the plant would be started by September 1, the commissioner said yesterday.

The agreement stated the initial outlay should not be less than $250,000, the plant should be completed by June 1, 1936, and Burnaby residents should be employed as far as possible, both in construction work and in the finished plant, he said.

W. E. Bates and O. S. Clark, representing the company, were in Victoria completing arrangements.

ELDERLY MAN IN NORTH MISSING

Edmonton, March 6.—For the north has been another life is expressed at Cameron Bay following the return there of a police patrol with information that Arthur Bird, seventy, is missing from his lonely cabin 180 miles north, according to a radio dispatch to The Edmonton Journal.

When police visited the cabin, erected on coal claims, they found it had not been occupied for over a month. If Bird had started out for Cameron Bay he is long overdue here, and such a trip, due to recent snowstorms, would be highly dangerous.

YOUTH CLAIMED TO BE GOVERNOR

Canadian Press
Edmonton, March 6.—A flax-haired youth from the country, who had announced that he was "the new Lieutenant-Governor," occupied the throne-like Speaker's chair of the provincial legislature for some fifteen minutes yesterday while the agricultural committee was in session.

As the chairman, C. A. Bonning, opened the meeting the youth calmly crossed the royal red carpet on the floor of the House and mounted the dais, seating himself in the Speaker's chair.

He announced: "I am the new Lieutenant-Governor."
Police were called and the youth was removed.

It was stated he would be mentally examined.

BIG LOANS TO TENANT FARMERS

A CASE FOR SEARCHING INQUIRY

CHARGES OF PROFITEERING WERE made in the House of Commons at Ottawa the other day by Mr. Thomas Reid, Liberal member for New Westminster, in regard to the manner in which supplies are bought for unemployment relief camps.

For example, Mr. Reid passed across the floor of the House to Hon. Grose Stirling, Minister of Defence, three potatoes which he said he had picked from a bin at the camp at White Rock, B.C., and for which he claimed the government had paid $24 a ton, whereas the farmers who grew the potatoes got $5 a ton for grade "A" and $3.75 a ton for grade "B." Mr. Reid drove home his point by saying that an inspector of the government at Vancouver had declared that "they are not worth anything."

Mr. Reid likewise told the House that the camp management has been buying canned milk while the farmers in the neighborhood could not sell their fresh milk—that the farmers sold carrots at $4 a ton and the government paid $12 a ton for them.

Each man in these camps received a tobacco allowance of one and one-quarter cents a day, Mr. Reid said. The Imperial Tobacco Company received the contract at forty-five cents a pound, but later this price was increased without other firms bidding. This meant the men received less tobacco each day. Mr. Reid also objected to a rule that men must be 100 per cent physically fit before being accepted in camps. This meant single homeless men with the slightest physical defect were thrown on the provinces and municipalities for relief. British Columbia was particularly affected as thousands of destitute persons flocked into that province from the prairies. In many cases other cities paid fares of persons on relief in order to permit them to move elsewhere. He knew of actual instances of people coming from Winnipeg, with their fares paid by the city, who became dependent on relief in British Columbia.

Hon. Grose Stirling, the head of the department under which the unemployment relief camps come, said that Mr. Reid's charges would be investigated. They should be investigated in the most thorough manner—with no political taint. Exploiting men on relief through no fault of their own is the worst form of profiteering.

A LONG INNINGS

THOSE WHO "WIELD THE WILLOW" in Victoria and who follow cricket at all will have experienced not a little regret when they read the news that Jack Hobbs, for years the idol of the British cricket world, had made up his mind to retire from first-class cricket. Well, after all, he is fifty-three years of age—and has had a long innings.

This famous international player has been the mainstay of Surrey batting for a very long time. His career in first-class cricket began as far back as 1905, and he was piling up centuries long before the sensational Australian Bradman was born. His score sheet shows that he has made 61,121 runs, including 197 centuries. He was a contemporary of Dr. W. G. Grace, "Ranji," Frank Woolley, Bobby Abel, the Warwickshire Foresters, and the Worcestershire Quakers, and many others well known to cricketers the world over. His nearest rival in the scoring of runs and centuries was "W. G." Grace's runs totaled 54,896, including 126 centuries. The record of Hobbs, of course, may yet be beaten, but those who are young and doing well in the game to-day have a pretty stiff task ahead of them to do it.

Hobbs has been regarded, and still is, as one of the greatest professionals in the history of the game and is recognized as one of the most polished first-wicket players ever to have put a foot behind a cricket crease. On dozens of occasions his name has been associated with long opening partnerships in international tests against the cream of Australia's bowling talent. The Hobbs-Sutcliffe partnership, for example, has become a legend, and they, in latter years at any rate, have proved themselves a most formidable pair. Sutcliffe of Yorkshire, of course, has been what Hobbs has been to Surrey in first-class county cricket.

To the youth of the United Kingdom, Hobbs, as a sportsman, has been held up as the exemplar of the highest ideals of sport. What might have been a doubtful decision on the part of the umpires—as far as the spectators were concerned—never brought anything but a smile to this redoubtable batsman. "Out" to him meant "Out." And that was that.

It is interesting to note, by the way, that as a tribute to this famous professional new entrance gates to the Oval, Surrey's ground in London, with its very ordinary houses and its huge gasometer just outside, are to be erected. However, Hobbs will not be entirely lost to the game, but will continue his long innings within the confines of club cricket.

IS SHE PINK OR RED?

IN HER SPEECH ON THE BUDGET MRS.

Steeves, C.C.F. member for North Vancouver, dropped an observation of marked significance in several aspects. She charged the Premier with lack of "intestinal fortitude"—a rather overworked phrase—is not proceeding with policies which the province has no constitutional power to adopt, and said he should have gone ahead with them even if he knew they would be disallowed by Ottawa. Is that the attitude Mrs. Steeves would have the C.C.F. take if they were in power? Its logical outcome would be revolution, unless, of course, the lady member for North Vancouver means that the government should attempt to fool the public by legislation which it knows is beyond its powers, and go no further.

Editorial factors may be too old-fashioned to count for anything in Mrs. Steeves' "ideology"—or is it "mumbo-jumbo"?—but since the deliberate faking of measures by itself would not aid the attainment of that proletarian Utopia which she demands should be created, but does not propose any ways and means of doing it, we must infer that she would have the C.C.F. go the limit and unfurl the banner of revolt. This is what some Communists in the C.C.F. are plainly aiming at.

A few days ago, however, Mrs. Steeves' leader, Mr. Connell, said he was opposed to the use of unconstitutional means in the promotion of the C.C.F. programme, carefully explaining that he was quite aware that this would require Dominion-wide action, and he strongly objected to any proposal that British Columbia secede from the Canadian confederation. Hence, within the little C.C.F. group in the House are constitutionalists and unconstitutionals, pinks and reds. Can it be that Mrs. Steeves thinks that not only the Premier but also her own leader is lacking in "intestinal fortitude" because both would neither try to delude the public by adopting measures they knew were unconstitutional nor challenge the Dominion with revolutionary defiance?

REVOLT IN GREECE

THE CAPTURE OF SERES, A REVOLUTIONIST stronghold in Macedonia, by the government troops is claimed in Athens to preface the suppression of the revolt in ancient Greece. Seres is not far from the plain of Philippi where Brutus and the other assassins of Julius Caesar were killed and their army destroyed by the forces of Marc Antony and Octavius, and is the centre of a district which throughout the centuries has been frequently ravaged by war.

A revolution in Greece is not exactly a novelty, but the present one is the most formidable attempt to overthrow the government since King Constantine was forced to abdicate by a military revolt thirteen years ago. Press dispatches associate former Premier Venizelos with the present outbreak, and it is said that the aged Cretan statesman has made all preparations for a hasty departure. Venizelos is known all over Europe for his sagacity and ability and it scarcely seems likely that he would promote an insurrection without having strong assurances of ultimate success.

Although in itself the revolution is merely a local incident in Grecian politics, both Turkey and Bulgaria have massed troops along their borders. The Balkan peninsula is still one of the touchiest localities in the world, bristling with potential boundary and racial disputes, and Europe will breathe easier when the present turmoil comes to an end.

THE CRITICS ARE BLUSHING

WHEN A GENIUS SETS OUT TO HAVE a little joke, the joke is apt to be so profound that no one but its perpetrator even knows about it.

Consider the joke of Fritz Kreisler, famous violinist. For thirty years Mr. Kreisler has been playing compositions supposed to have been written by various old-time masters in the world of music. His programmes credited them to such composers as Vivaldi, Couperin, and others, and gave Mr. Kreisler credit merely for arranging them.

Learned critics occasionally remarked that Mr. Kreisler, in editing these pieces, did not follow the original as well as he might have; others complimented him for interpreting the true spirit of the composer.

But now it develops that Mr. Kreisler wrote them all himself! For thirty years he has had a joke on the critics—and no one would have known it if he had not, at last, admitted it himself.

HEPBURN STILL SOLID

WITH INCOMPLETE RETURNS, IT IS shown that in the Ontario provincial riding of Nipissing the by-election contest held on Monday resulted in the return of the Liberal candidate, Mr. J. Harry Marceau, with a majority of more than 5,000 over Mr. E. J. Lacerne, the C.C.F. standard-bearer, in a straight fight.

The significance of this election lies in the fact that the Conservatives did not enter a candidate and that the C.C.F.'s strength in Ontario is not being increased. It also would appear to suggest that the policies which Premier Hespburn has initiated since he assumed office last summer are meeting with public approval.

At the general election the Liberal candidate polled 12,149 votes compared with the Conservative candidate's 6,038. When all the ballots are in, therefore, it will be obvious that Nipissing is still overwhelmingly Liberal from the purely ballot box point of view. But one wonders how the C.C.F. candidate should get about the same number of votes on Monday as the Conservative got last June. Is it a case of the old adage that politics makes strange bedfellows?

An obviously inadvertent error appeared in the editorial comment in these columns yesterday on the report of the survey on education finance in which the service tax recommended by the survey committee was stated to be two dollars on salaries exceeding fifty dollars a month, instead of 2 per cent, as was freely reported in the news columns of the press.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THEY'RE STILL FROM MISSOURI

The Regina Leader-Post

Mr. Bennett's "new deal" possibly has served to quicken national consciousness on the subject of social life. At the same time, his spoken word in this matter may not make as much impression as it had been further removed from a pending general election or as much as it might have had Mr. Bennett carried out his main promises at the time of the last election. Further, the people, we imagine, will want to see his latest programme uncovered more. It may be questioned if his unemployment insurance proposals suggest a millennium ahead when his whole programme is revealed. They are hardly breath-taking in their promise of social betterment.

A THOUGHT

Across the Bay

The day is long—and filled with many ideas—in the back benches get their fill of things—and tell us about phenomena from high finance to menage a couple.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

LONG DAY

THURSDAY WAS A LONG, weary, non-political day in the House. From early afternoon to late evening we listened to one speaker after another—six of them altogether, five hours of speaking, full of hundreds of ideas from high finance to menage a couple. It was sound stuff, most of it, reflecting the serious temper and the independent ideas of the back-benchers, but not the sort of thing to set your blood tingling and your heart singing.

Still, it is all part of that grim business, the budget debate, which must be got over somehow and which the government is pushing along as fast as possible by the simple process of sitting tight until everyone talks himself completely out. This process will take until the end of the week anyway.

Major D. M. MacKay went on with the budget debate with a thoughtful, quiet speech. At first Major MacKay looked like a rightist supporter of the Anzac plan to tough our way out of the depression by right about face. The cost of government must come down and taxation with it, he said, but then he declared that Liberalism must relieve the poor, must provide all with a chance to work. In this connection he read the Liberal platform which calls for work and wages and asked bluntly how far it had been implemented. So far as he could see, the country hadn't realized 50 cents worth of value on the dollar for its unemployment expenditures of $5,000,000 last year and the chief defect of our system was that it put people to work on constructive enterprises like a road from North Vancouver to Britannia.

British Columbia, the House discovered, can make gasoline commercially from coal, and rubber from the same source. It can make aluminium, the great metal of the future, out of its clays. We are about to make olive oil out of cherries in the little plant which Dr. Harris got the government to assist in establishing business up in the Okanagan.

But to do these things we must have a new economic policy, said Dr. Harris. He came out fairly for the internal policy of economics. He would stop selling our raw products to countries like Japan and buying them back in such form as rayon silk. He would make our own gasoline instead of importing it. If necessary, he would have the Prime Minister announce that British Columbia will "go it alone," to use a historical expression, and with the full use of our resources he believes we could make such a paradise here that even Mr. Uphill wouldn't want to go back to Russia.

To do these things he urged the government to set up a department of scientific research, to exploit a field we are hardly touching now, to make some real use of our resources, not in their raw, crude state but manufactured into innumerable by-products and finished articles that we now import. The prime minister listened intently, as he hasn't listened to any other speech this session, and Dr. Harris's highly constructive suggestions may bear fruit.

The long-promised bridge across Kootenay Lake at Nelson, bottleneck of by-elections innumerable, bobbed up again with Mr. Putnam from those parts. He wanted the bridge built right away and he wanted it to carry no tolls. A capable member, a farmer and a mining operator, Mr. Putnam gave the House a graphic vivid picture of the mining boom which has made the Kootenays believe that "old man depression has passed Tatienheim Corner and soon will be lost in the dust of a long, long nightmare."

DEFENCE

WINDING UP the day, Mr. Savage, the non-political gentleman from Cowichan-Newcastle, insisted that we face some of the disagreeable features of the international situation—an arming world, evidently bent on war, a defenceless Canadian coast, a Canada spending next to nothing on defence while other nations increased their armaments, a western civilization hanging in the balance of stupendous events.

So far as British Columbia is concerned, says Mr. Savage, it can do two things—it can stop all this silly talk about secession from other provinces which it needs in any plan of defence, and it can facilitate the construction of the Alaska Highway, with the aid of the United States, as a defence measure as well as a tourist stimulant.

Mr. Savage also urged the training of our youth in skilled trades, their use in a non-political road programme and their employment in prospecting. But his final suggestion intrigued the House most. He wanted standard beer glasses, their size governed by law to protect the patrons of British Columbia beer parlours, where every ingenuity was used to make a barrel go as far as possible, regardless of the consumer's thirst.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALICE MICHAELS

From out the well-worn book they stepped And once again I laughed and wept For David's joys and woes, With Agnes, Dora, Peggy, And darling little Emily, I saw old David smile.

O little David Cooperfield, There is no mother but would shield And hold you in her arms, Would brush each shadow from your face And let you all your childish games, In your own little world.

How much of magic moved the pen Which wrought this little world of men, How much of triumph in the art Of writers who lay bare the heart, In passion strong and deep!

BACK TO LAND SCHEME URGED

Lillooet Member Would Take
All Able-bodied Men Off
Relief

Demand that every able-bodied man in Lillooet constituency be taken off relief was voiced by G. M. Murray, Liberal, Lillooet, in the Legislature yesterday.

With all the idle land and idle men in British Columbia, the member said he was disappointed greater leadership had not been shown in getting the men on to the land. As an example of what could be done he described an enterprising ex-member of the House keeping himself and his family on five acres of land at Lillooet, while the Squamish Valley, bigger than Chilliwack Valley, did not produce enough vegetables to feed the town of Squamish.

Mr. Murray urged that the P.O.E. be extended not merely to Peace River, but on into the Mackenzie basin, where all the natural products of Mother Earth were to be harvested in abundance.

The only thing then left to do is get able-bodied men off the relief, said. "Asia is not so far away. A woman flew across the Pacific in an airplane the other day in a few hours. You can get to Yokohama as quickly as to the Whitehorse district in my riding."

He expressed the hope that the Legislature would adopt a strong resolution urging the Dominion to exert every effort to broaden Canada's trade relations with foreign countries and the United States. Reciprocity with the United States, he said, is of prime importance.

"RELIEF A CRIME"

In face of these opportunities he said relief in agricultural districts was a crime. Relief had been invented by a few Ottawa politicians to keep men out of jobs from throwing bricks. Given an inch they would demand a foot, and soon they would want to run the country.

"The whole works and nothing less," chimed in Harold Winch, C.C.F. "Yes, and then we will have this country run by a horde of Bunsenburners with their communist ideas," retorted Mr. Murray, waving his hand towards the C.C.F. benches, amid the laughter of the House.

Mr. Murray denounced A. M. Manson for so much as mentioning the word secession, and criticized Mayor McGee of Vancouver for attacking the backwash. Speaking for the upper country, he said the people there expected Vancouver to meet its obligations to the latter, protecting the crops of the whole province.

TOURIST PRAISE AND CRITICISM

"Everything Okeh," "Enjoyed
Races Although They Cost Me $1,500," Say Two Visitors; Auto Camps and Roads Criticized

Following are extracts from questionnaires sent out by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau seeking "views and suggestions from tourists who have visited the island:

"Would like to take the same trip again."

"Big outdoors, unmolested by billboards or other unsightly advertising, attracted us."

"Everything okeh!"

"We came for the fishing."

"Teach your local motorists a few hand signals and make them use them."

"Enjoyed the races although they cost me $1,500."

"Would like to spend a few weeks at Comox."

"The auto camps at Victoria should be made to understand they are public establishments, subject to use at all hours."

"Bathrooms should be supplied and better entrance made to auto camps."

"We enjoyed swimming in the Crystal Garden.

"Noted lack of fly screens in windows and doors of camps."

"You have something to advertise in Victoria and Vancouver Island, so keep it up."

"The island is worth seeing, but is not as English as we expected."

"Couldn't ask for a better vacation or a finer place to go."

"The island roads are not as good as roads on the mainland."

"Hunting, fishing and outdoor life brought us to the island and I would love to return and spend a month."

"Your signs, 'Follow the Birds to Victoria,' are attractive and encouraging."

"We especially wanted to go to Vancouver, but were more delighted with Victoria."

"Canadian Pacific men very courteous."

"The scenery, English atmosphere, different customs and places attracted us."

"Liked the fishing on Saanich Island."

"Please note, we did not go to Canada for liquor."

"Police very polite."

TRAIN KILLS FIVE

Paris, March 6. (Canadian Press from Havre).—Five railroad track repairmen were killed yesterday when an express train plunged into a work gang near Montmartre. Sixteen workmen were injured. The train was carrying mail and passengers. A dense fog prevented the workmen from seeing the approaching train.

COST OF TRIPS IS MADE PUBLIC

Legislature Told How Much
Ottawa Visits of Cabinet
Cost

Since the present government came into office, members of the cabinet and government officials have spent a total of $10,575 in traveling expenses, including visits to Ottawa and other eastern points, according to figures tabled in the Legislature yesterday by Premier Pattullo at the request of R. H. Pooley, K.C., Esquimalt.

As a result of these trips the province received an increase of $750,000 in the federal subsidy, and several million dollars in loans to assist current financing.

The total of $10,575 covered the expenses of Premier Pattullo, five cabinet ministers and four government officials who went with them. The Premier and his cabinet, between them, did a total of 971 days traveling in the fifteen-month period.

Their individual expenses for this time were: Premier Pattullo, $5,208; Hon. John Hart, $1,187; Hon. George Pearson, $678; Hon. Gordon Macdonald, $1,551; Hon. George Weir, $1,078. The Premier made three trips to Ottawa and several other short side trips. Attorney-General Stoggs made three visits to Ottawa, and the others made two trips.

GARAGE BILLS TO BE OPENED

Full Details of Government
Expenditures With Cranbrook Firm Will Be Given

In a move to settle all arguments as to what amounts the government has spent at Hansen's Garage, with which business he has a connection, Hon. Frank M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, secured permission of the Legislature yesterday afternoon to have all the accounts with his garage to date referred to the public accounts committee.

Mr. MacPherson referred to the fact that the member for Vancouver East (Harold Winch, C.C.F.) had sought the details of these accounts but could not get them because the money was spent after the end of the fiscal year and was therefore not shown in the public accounts.

"There is certainly nothing to hide about it," he told the house "so I would move that the entire account be referred to the committee for inspection."

The motion passed unanimously.

TO REPORT ON DIKE DAMAGE

Minister of Lands Tells House Full Details Secured

A full report by a committee of officials into the causes and results of the break in the Sumas dyke during the January storm, and on possible protection against future losses, for this reason will be filled with Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, this week, he stated in the Legislature yesterday when questioned by R. H. Pooley, K.C., Unionist, Esquimalt, on the present conditions in the district.

Mr. Gray said the Sumas area was now back to normal after the floods, the repairs to the dike practically finished, and the flood waters gone.

Mr. Pooley suggested that since the loss of electric power for the pumps had been responsible in some measure for the damage to the dikes, the government should order that the power lines go along the mountain side instead of across Sumas prairie.

Brush's greyhound plant not only grows on trees but on telegraph wires as well. Birds use it for roosting and the plants continue to grow, making a living fabric of the nest.

Subsidy Requests By Saskatchewan

Toronto, March 6.—Saskatchewan will make representations to the Dominion Government for subsidies on the line of those already made by the Maritime Provinces, Premier James G. Gardiner of Saskatchewan said in commenting on the report of the White House Commission, which recommended payment of additional annual subsidies to the Maritime Provinces.

Premier Gardiner stated the subsidies were unlikely to affect those to other provinces as whatever adjustments were made in any province, it was still usually necessary to make a review of them all.

Rheumatic Happy! Conquers Torture

So many thousands have found quick relief from the torturing pain of rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago and neuritis through Nurotic that it is now easily available by mail order. It was discovered by a famous specialist noted for the relief of all the most obstinate rheumatic pains and aches. England Facing Servant Slump

Girls Hate Kitchen Work, so Many Men Becoming Cooks and Housemaids

GIRLS HATE THE KITCHEN
There is a slump in female servants throughout the south of England.
As a consequence, there are scores of cases where men are carrying out the entire domestic work in large country houses. This is especially the case in Hampshire and Sussex.
A well-known society woman, who personally engages her large domestic staff, said that not only are men taking the place of kitchen and housemaids, but the old-fashioned cook is almost extinct.
"French and Austrian male cooks are now taking her place," she said.
This view was confirmed by the proprietors of two large domestic agencies with branches in the southern counties.
"Men are being taken on as general cooks, housemaids, parlourmaids, and kitchenmaids," said one of them. "We cannot get enough girls for household work."
The head of another agency said: "It is an awful task to get servant girls. The explanation seems to be that the average girl has been brought up to prefer a job in an office."
EX-HUNGER STRIKERS MEET
A police officer in the West End of London, who made way the other evening for more than a hundred fashionably dressed women, probably little realized that over seventeen years ago many of them had been led to prison by their predecessors.
The women were former militant suffragettes who had gathered to celebrate the seventeenth anniversary of the granting of votes to women over thirty.
Some of those who were at the anniversary dinner had been on hunger strike to achieve their aim, and one of the diners had been forcibly fed in goal 300 times.
"We could tell plenty of stories of our fight," Mrs. E. G. Guy, secretary of the Suffragette Fellowship, said to an interviewer. "I served two sentences in prison myself, and another of our members chained herself to the railing of No. 10 Downing Street. But when we gathered together like this, we do not want to talk of the past. We are much more interested in the present and its problems. Peace, and how it can be maintained, is one of our greatest interests to-day," she added.
WOMEN NOT WORST GOSSIPERS
Miss Margaret Bondfield told a gathering of women at a lunch-hour talk at Westminster that after working among men for many years she could not accept the view that women were of a more gossiping nature than men.

"I have come to the conclusion," she said, "that it is far more likely to be a case of six of one and half a dozen of the other."
Friendships, she added, were often spoiled by an unguarded use of the tongue.
Miss Bondfield referred to the improved standard of cleanliness, and said it was a great joy to her to go into a factory and see the neat legs and the pretty well-kept hair and clean hands of the girls—now becoming a common sight. She regarded this higher standard of cleanliness as an adjunct to the very much higher standard of morals all about us to-day.
Of marriage, Miss Bondfield said: "I have always felt that the highest development of women is to be reached as a wife and mother, but there are thousands who will never be wives and mothers, and I appeal to them to remember that because of that they are not shut out from some of the greatest things in life."

WOMAN'S BIG FILM JOB
A young woman has achieved her life ambition by securing one of the biggest jobs in the British film industry.
She is Miss Margery Locket, who has been appointed director of the Gaumont-British Instructional Films Bureau, an organization for the national distribution of educational films and classroom "talkie" equipment.
Miss Locket, who is thirty-four years old, is said to know more about the application of films to education than anyone in the country. It is her ambition to see "talkie" equipment and a regular supply of films used in every school in the country. She has spent ten years in furthering the cause of educational films.
The aim of this new bureau is to provide a complete service of information and assistance, and to aid the teacher or lecturer who wishes to utilize the advantages of the film.
Another woman, Miss Mary Field, will lead a group of young film makers in the production of classroom subjects designed to aid teachers and work on the first series has already begun.

WOMEN IN EMPLOYMENT
A suggestion by an Indian speaker, Mrs. Hussein, that unmarried women should be given preference over married women when seeking employment, was described as "being heretical" by another delegate at the annual council meeting of the Women's International League, held at the Y.W.C.A. in London.
Mrs. A. McIlwrick of Manchester moved a resolution, which was carried, that a united effort should be made to combat growing encroachments on the liberties of the people. She declared that Hitler had tackled the unemployment problem by encroaching upon the liberties of women, whose jobs were given to men. There seemed to be a strong feeling in England that that was the right course, and there seemed to be some resentment that any home should have two earners' incomes. Women must be alive to this danger and fight it.

MUFFS WITH COURT GOWNS
The Lord Chamberlain may have to see a fashion display in order to decide in time for the March courts whether the new vogue of the evening muffs should be allowed to encroach upon the liberties of the court dress regulations.
At least one leading West End dressmaker is designing large, ethereal tulle muffs to carry at the courts in place of the orthodox fan or bouquet. Some of these muffs contain twenty-five yards of tulle.
The sole reference in the regulations to anything being carried at the courts is the following statement: "Bouquets and fans are optional."
Whether a woman can make a curtsy with a muff is another question that is being asked.
The question of carrying a muff has never arisen before, and it may be necessary for the Lord Chamberlain to make an announcement on the subject.

Before Baby Came
WOMEN who dread motherhood or who suffer from backache or weakness, drains can be helped by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Mrs. George Schrumm of 128 Stoney Rd., Windsor, Ont., says: "My strength was almost gone before the birth of my little girl. I couldn't sleep, did not care to eat and nervous headaches were my constant companions. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription strengthened me so that I suffered no more weakness. I continued to use this medicine in the best of health."

CLINGING TO THE FIGURE OF THE HIP
This cocktail dress of black, unbreakable velvet by Lelong wears here the trend for fullness is carried out, both in skirt and jacket, which is bloused at back. The skirt is worn over a blouse of black and white striped silk trimmed with a loop of self material.

Mrs. A. W. Kenning, Belcher Avenue, has as her guest Mrs. McInnis of Grand Forks.
Mr. Howard Sturrock, Richardson Street, left yesterday afternoon for Seattle to spend a few days there with friends.

Mrs. P. J. Nolan and her sister, Miss Lee, entertained at the tea hour yesterday afternoon at their home in the Uplands.
Mr. Jack Crane of the Bank of Montreal, Kelowna, is visiting his brother, Mr. Ross Crane, Hollywood Crescent, and expects to remain in Victoria for the next few weeks.

Prior to the Tuberculous Veterans' dance at the Empress Hotel yesterday evening, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Genge entertained informally at their home on Vancouver Street.
Mrs. A. E. McKicking and Mrs. Anthony Genge were the winners at the recent telephone bridge party, held under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mrs. J. D. Gilla of Vancouver came over from the mainland yesterday afternoon on a short visit to her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Whitaker, The Uplands. This afternoon Mrs. Whitaker entertained at the tea hour at her home.
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Denny and Miss Eleanor Denny and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dugan have returned to their homes in Victoria after a visit to the Panama Canal Zone. They traveled north from Balboa by the German motorship Seattle.

Mr. Pat Phillips, former deputy minister of public works, who has been on a business trip to Ottawa and eastern Canada, spent part of last week-end at Harrison Hot Springs en route to Victoria. Other week-end guests at the hotel included visitors from New York, Seattle, Tacoma, Calgary and Vancouver.

Among the guests registered at the Dominion Hotel are: Mrs. Carolin Stewart; Mr. L. N. Paynter, Mr. P. W. Robins, Mr. Geo. Harcourt, Mr. G. P. Bud, Mr. R. W. Hibel, Mr. P. Triamor, Mr. C. H. Oakes and Mr. W. H. Sutherland, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. T. Collins, C.P.R.; Mr. C. Young, city.

Mrs. B. J. Watson of Chicago, who arrived in the city recently to be with her brother, Mr. John Fraser of Union Bay, during his illness, has taken up her permanent residence at the Empress Hotel. Mr. Fraser has been a patient in the Jubilee Hospital, and is now making splendid progress towards recovery.

Mrs. A. G. Phillips of Bristol, New Brunswick, who has been spending the winter in Victoria as the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. Darkie, left on the midnight boat on the return trip to her home in the east. During her visit here, Mrs. Phillips was greatly impressed with the beauty of Victoria and the wonderful climate and hopes to make a return trip soon.

Wide interest was shown in the announcement by Mrs. B. G. Genn Preston of Ottawa of the engagement of her daughter, Rosemarie Blanche, to Squadron Leader John G. Waiser, of the Royal Air Force, depot at Singapore. They will be married in April. Miss Preston is a grand-daughter of W. T. R. Preston, former organizer for the Liberal Party, one-time Canadian trade commissioner in South Africa, China and Japan. At present she is staying with an uncle, H. R. Cairns Hunt, at Cannes, France.

INFORMAL ENSEMBLE

The ballroom of the Empress Hotel presented a gay scene yesterday evening when over 250 guests danced under the aegis of the Tuberculous Veterans' Association. The affair was one of the most successful undertakings ever promoted by this little group of ex-service men, with the assistance of the Ladies' Auxiliary, to whom much of its success was due.
A parade of bathing beauties, wearing the latest and most colorful styles in swimming and beach suits, was a novel and attractive feature which evoked much applause. Much amusement was caused by the three bathing belles of the gay 'nineties, whose voluminous and clumsy garments were in striking contrast to to-day's "stream-lined" models.
The bathing suits were shown by the Jantzen Mills of Vancouver, which firm also created the attractive two and three-piece bathing suits later shown by the madonnas. Their hats were from the Hudson's Bay Company and included Boston sailors, fabric hats with the new "bobbed" brim, bucklers, creped, wool and cellophane mixtures, linen hats, and "Honey-Girl," a nauty little off-the-face model, which reveals the hair line above the forehead.
The graceful mannequins were: Miss Dorothy McKicking, Miss Audrey Hadow, Mrs. Coleman, Miss Babe Pennock, Miss Esther Ford, Miss Thelma Ackerman, Miss Elin Vinlayson and Miss Lorraine Pendergast. The fashion display, which was such a success at the Navy League Chapter I.O.O.F. swimming gala last week, was repeated last night by kind permission of the chapter.
The excellent dance music was provided by the hotel orchestra, under the direction of William Ticks, who repeated last night by kind permission of the chapter.
The committee in charge of the ball arrangements, comprising members of the ladies' auxiliary as well as the T.V.A., included: Mrs. W. H. Booth, Mrs. D. W. Burnett, Mrs. E. S. Campbell, Mrs. H. Gibson, Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. R. S. Standwick, and Mr. Henry Gibson, president of the T.V.A.; Mr. Standwick, the treasurer, and Mr. Frank R. Rickford.

PROMER RECUPERATES
Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 6.—Contrary to expectations, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett did not appear in the House of Commons this afternoon. It was stated Mr. Bennett might come out to-morrow. He has been confined to his room since the first of last week with a cold and the effects of overwork.

Mrs. George Branton of Vancouver, is visiting in Victoria with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Chatham, Langley Street. Mr. and Mrs. Chatham expect to move at the middle of this month to their new home in Gordon Head.
Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ford of Brentwood, who have been visiting in Everett, Washington, with Mrs. Ford's brother-in-law and sister, Captain and Mrs. R. G. Mathews, have returned to their home in Seattle.

TO MAKE HER HOME HERE

This stately bride is the former Mary Margrave, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Margrave of Vancouver, who is shown as she appeared at her marriage to Sergeant Henry A. Larsen, R.C.M.P. Mr. and Mrs. Larsen, who are at present in Ottawa on a wedding trip, will reside in Victoria on their return to the Pacific Coast.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

Hamilton, Ont., March 6.—Rev. W. H. Daw, rector of the Church of St. Francis of Assisi, was deposed from the ministry of the Church of England in Canada and his name ordered to be removed from the list of the clergy of the Diocese of Niagara, in a judgment handed down yesterday by St. Rev. L. W. D. Broughall, Bishop of Niagara.
The four charges against him were heard before an ecclesiastical court composed of the bishop presiding, with Very Rev. C. Riley, dean of the diocese, and Judge George C. Thompson, chancellor of the diocese, as assessors on January 18.
The reasons for judgment appended to the official announcement were: "That you are officiating in the Diocese of Niagara without the license of the bishop."
"That you are holding services in another clergyman's parish without such clergyman's consent."
"That you have violated the laws of canonical obedience made by you on your ordination as deacon and priest."
"That you are guilty of schism, or separating yourself from the communion of the church."
Any man who looks upon a married woman will be instantly smitten with blindness, according to a belief of the Navajo Indians of Arizona.

Mrs. Hal Beasley of Victoria, and her daughter, Patricia, who left England on a three-month visit 5 short time ago are now in London. Her many Victoria friends will be interested to learn that Patricia, who is only fourteen years of age, has been engaged by the British Broadcasting Company to sing on the round-the-world broadcast from London on Wednesday, March 13, according to a letter received from Mrs. Beasley.

Her many Victoria friends will be interested in the election of Miss Muriel Tunstead of Edmonton as queen of the West Edmonton Community League ice carnival recently. Miss Tunstead is the fifteen-year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tunstead of Duncan, who are spending the winter months at Santa Barbara. Miss Tunstead, who was elected by popular vote at the Edmonton carnival, is well-known on Vancouver Island and was a visitor to Victoria last summer.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Horey, Joan Crescent, will leave to-morrow afternoon for Vancouver, where on Friday morning they will meet their daughter, Mrs. Kenneth F. Adams, and their son, Mr. Rowland Horey, who has been visiting in Portmouth, England, with his brother-in-law and sister, Lieutenant-Commander and Mrs. K. F. Adams. Mrs. Adams and Mr. Rowland Horey left Portmouth, England, on January 31, on the motorship Nanseaville for Vancouver, via the Panama Canal. In two months time Mrs. Adams will be joined by her husband, Lt.-Commander K. F. Adams, who is now stationed with his ship in the West Indies, and who will visit here with Mr. and Mrs. Horey and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Adams, Beach Drive.

A large number of friends of the young couple called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Myers, Craigflower Road, yesterday evening when they held a reception in honor of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Francis Butler (nee Dorothy Myers), whose marriage was celebrated by Rev. Father E. M. Scherler at the West Beach Catholic church yesterday morning. Mrs. Myers, handsomely gowned in brownorgette, with a corsage bouquet of roses, was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. C. Holders of Seattle, Mrs. C. Phillips of Yakima, Mrs. L. Palmer, Mrs. E. Mercer and Mrs. A. McDermott. The reception room was attractively decorated with narcissus, snowdrops, violets and other spring flowers. On the long supper table, with its three-tiered floral center topped with frezias, daffodils and greenery, and tall yellow candles in green holders, carried out the spring-like decorative scheme. Refreshments in serving were Mrs. H. Elliott, Miss H. Holders (Seattle), and Mrs. A. Mout. Dancing and music were enjoyed by the many guests. Later Mr. and Mrs. Butler left on their honeymoon trip, and on their return will reside in Kelowna, of which district the bridegroom's family are well-known pioneers.

Young People's Church Societies

PRESBYTERIAN
The Presbyterian Young People's Association held its regular monthly meeting at St. Andrew's Church yesterday evening. Dr. McMillan, president of the association was in the chair. During the evening a letter containing the resignation of R. T. Truett, secretary, was read and accepted. Miss M. Kennedy was appointed secretary and Miss M. Woolley was appointed corresponding secretary. G. Warren was appointed to secure speakers for the different societies. The association plans to hold a social on March 15 at St. Andrew's Church, to which the six other societies will be invited. A debate was planned for March 18, between St. Paul's and St. Andrew's societies, the topic being "Resolved, that the principle of the chain of store system is detrimental to the best interests of the Canadian public." A committee of four, including Miss M. Kennedy, Rev. McMillan, Mr. McDonald and D. McMillan, was appointed to make arrangements for the Young People's Conference which will be held on April 20 and 21, to which the society extends a cordial invitation to all young people.
ST. AIDAN'S
The regular meeting of St. Aidan's was held Friday evening. Miss Mary Sharp gave an interesting talk on three famous artists. Miss Barbara Dawson sang several delightful songs. Gilbert Brown had charge of the devotional period. A concert will be held on Friday in the hall.

Women's Status Rests on Vote

Two-thirds of United Church Presbyteries' Vote Necessary to Admit Women to Ministry.

Canadian Press
Toronto, March 6.—Attention of church, feminist, suffragist and other organizations is focused on the United Church of Canada whose presbyteries from coast to coast are voting on the question as to whether the ministry of the church shall be open to women as well as men.

If a vote in favor of the ordination of women is cast by two-thirds of the 114 presbyteries of the United Church before June 1 next it is expected that legislation providing for the opening of the ministry in that denomination to women will become effective in 1936.

MISS GRUCHY CAUSE
In the United Church the question of ordination of women arose in its present form when the Saskatchewan Conference in 1926 voted that the church as a whole the conference would proceed to ordain Miss Lydia E. Gruchy, B.A., who for eleven years has served as a missionary pastor on northern fields, without the power to perform the sacrament of marriage or other church rites.

The General Council, meeting at Kingston last September, adopted the necessary permissive legislation and ordered a remit or referendum to the presbyteries under the Barrier Act.

Prior to church union, Miss Gruchy, who was a graduate in arts and theology, had served under the Presbyterian Church in Canada. In the Methodist Church, ordination of women was discussed in the General Conference of 1922 without gain to the advocates of women's ministry.

DISCLOSED IN 1926
After union the Saskatchewan Conference of 1926 requested the second General Council meeting in the same year at Montreal "to grant authority to this conference to ordain Miss Lydia E. Gruchy to the ministry of the United Church of Canada." The council consulted its law and legislation committee, which expressed the opinion that serious legal doubts existed regarding the right of the United Church to ordain women without first obtaining the approval of the presbyteries.

In the vote subsequently taken on the principle, thirty-two presbyteries were favorable, thirty-four opposed and twenty-three favored the principle but advised that action be deferred. The General Council of 1926, meeting at Winnipeg, ruled that the mind of the church had not been fully disclosed and declared that "there is no bar in reason or religion to such ordination."

From that time until the meeting of Saskatchewan Conference last year the question in short, while the eligibility of women to become members of session was being decided.

Results of the present voting in presbyteries are required to reach the secretary of General Council, Rev. T. Albert Moore, by the end of May.

OPPOSE WOMEN IN MINISTRY

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and stuffy and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, acids, and irritants, but get your bowels moving and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a more momentary doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two quarts of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just dumps in the bowels. This builds up your stomach. You have a thin, flat tummy and your bowels are full. Your head aches and you feel down and get. Your whole system is poisoned.

It is for these reasons, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two quarts of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain the powerful, harmless, gentle vegetable extract, santonin, when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of cheap imitations. See at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

Hon. Janet Campbell Weds Earl's Heir

Canadian Press Cable
London, March 6.—Hon. Janet Campbell, only daughter of Baron Beaverbrook, Canadian-born newspaper peer, was married yesterday to Hon. Drogo Montagu, younger son of the Earl of Sandwich.

Mrs. Campbell first married Ian Douglas Campbell, heir presumptive to the Duke of Argyll, in 1927, and they were divorced last year. Mr. Montagu was also previously married, to Miss Tania Quinlan, in February, 1931. This marriage also being dissolved last year. He has one son, while Mrs. Campbell had a daughter by her first marriage.

Yesterday's ceremony took place at the Westminster registry office.

BRAVE NUNS IN REMOTE CHINA

Canadian Sisters Run Hospital on Tibet Borders; Work Long Hours

Canadian Press
Shanghai, China, March 6.—With the return to the far distant borders of China and Tibet of Sister Marie des Anges, attention is newly focused on the work being done in that remote area by French and Canadian Catholic hospital sisters.

Marie des Anges is a Canadian nun, mother superior of hospitals. For years she worked at Tachienlu, on the western borders of China, and then was transferred as mother superior of the General Hospital in Shanghai.

Tachienlu lies at an elevation of more than 10,000 feet above the sea, and the climate is trying to many people. After a period in Shanghai Marie des Anges was sent to Italy to manage a hospital for sick Sisters of Mercy, but now she is again at her post in the borderlands.

Sister Alice and Sister Rose, also French-Canadians, ran the Tachienlu hospital and free clinic while Marie des Anges was away. The former has been shifted to China and the latter to Kiating, both cities in distant Szechuen.

Tachienlu is about 2,000 miles inland from Shanghai. First comes a slow journey of 1,200 miles by river steamer, then a motor journey from Chungking, head of navigation on the Yangtze, to Chengtu, and then a journey about or by caravan or mule pack which usually takes four or five weeks westward to Tachienlu.

There are now six foreign sisters in charge of the hospital at Tachienlu, and every day free clinic cases exceed 100 and sometimes run to 200.

Wounded Chinese soldiers, frost-bitten Tibetan caravan workers, the lame, the halt and the blind congregate at the hospital, and sometimes these heroic women dress wounds and administer treatments for twelve and fifteen hours daily.

CHORAL WORKS TO BE GIVEN

Meistersingers to Present Programme in Aid of Fair-Field United Church

The music of the opera has always been well received by Victoria audiences and, accordingly, the Meistersingers have included a number of selections from the more popular operas and operettas for its only major musical appearance here on March 15 in the Shrine Auditorium.

The programme is being staged in aid of the Fairfield United Church. Local critics have been lavish in their praise of this group in previous performances here and at other places in Vancouver Island. The chorus has recently experienced changes in its personnel and now includes several of Victoria's better-known concert and opera soloists.

GRACE MOORE GIVEN HONOR

Canadian Press
New York, March 6.—Grace Moore, grand opera and film star, to-day held the gold medal of the Society of Arts and Sciences "for distinguished service to the cultural life of the nation."

Notification sent by the society to Miss Moore informed her the award was based particularly on her "conspicuous achievement in raising the standard of cinema entertainment" in the picture "One Night of Love."

Only one other woman has ever received the medal—Eva Le Gallienne, actress and founder of the civic repertory theatre.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR SANDWICHES IN MEALS OF LEFT-OVERS

By MARY E. DAGUE

One of the best luncheons I serve my family is made with left-overs and the family never know it. They think only that they are having a special treat in these hot savory sandwiches that are so satisfying and appetizing when the March wind blows.

Left-over meats, odds and ends of cheese, gravies, sauces and all sorts of appetizing hot sandwich. Chop the meat very fine, add the gravy to it and add to this mixture a few shades of green pepper and minced onion browned in a little fat. Heat to the boiling point and add half a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce or tomato catsup to taste. Serve on hot toast with spicy pickles.

Hot chicken sandwiches may be made in several ways. If you had chicken with biscuits and gravy for Sunday dinner a very easy sandwich is made by removing the meat from the bones, reheating it in the gravy and serving it on the biscuits which have been split and toasted.

The remnants of roast chicken or any variety of poultry work up delightfully in the following recipe.

HOT CHICKEN SANDWICH
One cup finely chopped chicken, 1½ cups of milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon mayonnaise, 3 drops onion salt, 1 teaspoon capers, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon white pepper, graham bread.

Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Cook and stir until boiling and add mayonnaise and onion juice, salt, pepper, and prepared chicken. Put between hot slices of graham bread and serve at once.

HOT HAMBURG SANDWICHES
One-half pound round steak ground, 1 small onion, 2 tablespoons drippings or butter, 1 tablespoon flour, ¼ cup tomato puree, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, whole wheat bread.

Mince onion and mix with chopped meat. Sauté in butter or dripping until a nice brown. Season with salt and pepper and stir over flour. Mix thoroughly and cook and stir until flour is browned. Slowly add tomato juice, stirring constantly. Cook until thick and smooth. Spread, hot and savory, between slices of buttered whole wheat bread.

APPLE RING SANDWICH
This sandwich will find favor on one of the first warm spring days when the sun at mid-day seems as warm as summer.

Slice Boston brown bread rather thin and spread with softened butter. Cut tart apples in slices about one-quarter inch thick and remove cores but do not peel. Sauté in butter in a hot frying pan and arrange on prepared brown bread. Sprinkle lightly with sugar and cinnamon mixed and put into a hot oven for a few minutes. Before serving drop marbles of cream cheese dotted with paprika in each apple ring.

TO-MORROW'S MENU
Breakfast: Stewed prunes, cereal, cream, scrambled eggs, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Apple ring sandwiches, hearts of celery, rice soufflé, milk.

Dinner: Tomato juice cocktail, baked white fish, marinated potatoes, broccoli with lemon sauce, beet and cabbage salad, rhubarb short-cake, milk, coffee.

Ottawa, March 6.—King George is anxious the silver jubilee of his accession to the throne on May 6 be celebrated in the towns and hamlets as well as in large centres, according to an announcement made here.

Cahan, Secretary of State, issued the following statement yesterday in this connection:

"The King has expressed the desire that on May 6 next, which is the twenty-fifth anniversary of his accession to the throne, local celebrations shall be held, not only in every civic and municipal centre, but also, wherever practicable, in connection with the schools of the rural districts of each province."

"In the nine provincial capitals the provincial governments, in co-operation with the mayors and councils of those cities, have been requested to organize celebrations, and in all other civic and municipal centres in each province the respective mayors, reveries, wardens and prefects are requested to organize and assume supervision of similar celebrations, in which all national and patriotic associations, school children and the public generally will be invited to participate."

"Members of all defence forces and members of the civil service of Canada will be free to participate in any appropriate functions which may be arranged by the provincially and local authorities to which they are invited."

"By the King's command medals will be struck at the Royal Mint to commemorate this silver jubilee, and a number of these medals will be distributed by the King to his subjects throughout Canada in recognition of faithful and distinguished public services. It is proposed that each medal so awarded will be accompanied by a letter from Buckingham Palace, written to each recipient by the King's command."

"On accession day these medals will be presented by the Governor-General to those residing in Ottawa, by the respective Lieutenant-Governors to those residing in each provincial capital, and by the mayors of other cities and towns and the wardens or prefects of municipal districts to those residing within their respective jurisdictions."

"Mr. Cahan will have general supervision of the arrangements for celebrating this silver jubilee, and he will be advised by a committee consisting of Sir George Perley, Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Hon. Maurice Dupre and G. C. Coote, M.P."

"DAILY" STRENGTH FOR "THE WEAK"

BOW

THE PROVED BODY BUILDER

Mary's troubles, during the last few days, had made Gale think much less about her own. Mary wasn't much older than Gale, but she looked years older. Alone in the world except for two helpless children—without money, without work, without anything to look forward to except struggle that would grow harder as time went on. Where was Sid Crasley, Mary's husband? Why wasn't he there to help her?

No one in town knew what had become of Sid. Mary never mentioned him. It had been more than two years since his sudden disappearance. It wasn't such an uncommon thing for husbands to disappear that way. They lost their jobs or got into debt and became discouraged. Some of them, doubting, expected to come back to their families or send for them after times were better, after they got on their feet again. Maybe they thought that when they left, few of them ever came back.

Gale thought, "I suppose Mary was in love with Sid once—or thought she was." Hard to imagine that, now. Mary was a moon-struck young thing, blushing, sighing, primping in front of a mirror before a date. Hard to reconcile that picture with Mary as she looked to-day. Gale put the thought from her. She didn't want to think about love. That was something she was through with. She had come to a brighter district. The drug store was a few steps ahead. "Schonebaum's Drug Store," the sign read. There was a display of small articles—shaving cream, tooth paste, hair tonic—in the window and behind them a brightly printed poster showing a pretty girl in a red dress, holding a glass of some beverage. Schonebaum's was a small place but the proprietor was friendly. He would let Gale have the medicine and wait until next week for the money.

She lowered her umbrella and pulled the door open. There was no one in sight but a young man who was inspecting something inside the glass counter. He wore a trench coat and a brown hat. Even before he turned, Gale recognized that raincoat. It was Brian Westmore's!

There was no time to do anything except stand there, feeling her heart pound wildly, knowing the color had risen in her cheeks, hating herself because of it.

Brian looked surprised, too. He said, "Hello." And then, a moment later, "The proprietor seems to have gone out."

The store looked strange without Mr. Schonebaum with his round, red face and shiny, bald head. He should have been behind the counter, peering at them over the rim of his spectacles, clearing his throat and saying, "Ahem—what can I do for you?" No, Mr. Schonebaum was nowhere in sight.

Gale said, "I wonder where he's gone?" She tried to make her voice sound natural but the effort wasn't entirely successful.

"I don't suppose he can be far away," Brian went on. "He'll probably show up in a moment or two."

Gale caught a glimpse of herself in the mirror behind the counter and saw that her cheeks were shining. She tugged at a wisp of hair blown from beneath her hat, pushing it into place. Meeting Brian anywhere was bad enough. Meeting him like this, with her face red, her clothes wet and limp from the storm, was a calamity.

They stood there, each waiting for the other to speak.

Gale thought, "This is ridiculous. I won't stay any longer. I'll make an excuse and get away—anywhere." And yet she lingered.

CHAPTER XL

Brian said, "Hm!" and cleared his throat. Gale turned and looked out the window. There was nothing but the empty street and the rain, falling in slanting lines. There was another drug store two blocks down the street. She could go there—

She whirled as Brian went on speaking. "I haven't seen you for a long time," he said, looking at her in that strange way she had noticed a moment before.

"No."

It had been a long time. Two weeks and four days, exactly. Brian cried, then the night she had met Brian on the way home from work—the night that had been the end of everything. Two weeks and four days. That wasn't counting the time she'd seen him. Vicky Thatcher's green roadster. That was only last Thursday.

Brian seemed determined to make conversation. He asked, "Everything going along right?"

"Oh, yes. Fine."

"Why didn't Mr. Schonebaum come, the girl thought wildly. Why didn't he come?"

As though in direct answer, she saw a shiny bald head through the window. Mr. Schonebaum, red of face and puffing slightly, pushed the door of the drug store open.

"I just been upstairs for a few minutes," he explained apologetically. "We got a place in the roof that leaks. I got to see—but what can I do for you?"

The question came, as it always did. Mr. Schonebaum invariably greeted customers with, "What can I do for you?"

He was standing behind the counter, drying the raindrops from his spectacles. Gale looked at Brian and said, "You were here first—"

"Go ahead."

He stood back, waiting for her to make her purchase. Gale said to the druggist, "I'd like to have this prescription filled," and handed him the bottle.

"Tab. Just a few moments—"

He moved on, finally, to the rear of the store. Gale turned to the shelves of books that were for rent. They were worn books and some of the covers were soiled. She wasn't interested in them, but at least they would keep her from looking at Brian, trying to think of something to say to him.

Gale took out one of the books and turned the pages, but it didn't do much good. Then she stole a glance over her shoulder. Brian had moved farther down the counter and his back was toward her.

Mr. Schonebaum's short, quick footsteps caused her to whirl about. He came back to the front counter.

"Will it be all right if I pay you next week?"

"Tab—sure."

The druggist was wrapping the bottle in brown paper. Brian came forward leisurely. He said to Gale, "If you'll wait while I buy some cigarettes I'll drive you home."

"Thanks." (Gale knew that the color had risen in her cheeks again.) "I have some other errands."

That was all there was to it. Brian dropped back to study the display inside the counter once more and Gale took her package and went out into the street.

She felt the raindrops before she could get the umbrella raised. The catch was hard to work. Then she hurried her head against the wind and bent her head down the street. She'd have to pretend about the other errands. She'd go into the cut-rate grocery and come out again, as though she'd changed her mind about buying anything.

She reached the shelter of the store entrance and paused to look at a sale poster. Brian's black coupe sped past.

HOWARD BRAVED "JAIL FEVER"

Dean Quinton Tells of Man Who Fought Inhumanities in English Prisons

Now John Howard risked jail fever and other ills in order to humanize the medieval and barbaric prisons of England. He was described by Dean Quinton yesterday evening in his lecture at Memorial Hall on "John Howard, the Prisoner's Friend." The lecture was one of a series on the great Christian social reformers.

"Wardens and jailers purchased their jobs because of the profit possibilities, as the lot of the prisoner could be mitigated by the timely use of money," the dean said, in telling of the corruption and graft that ruled in the English prisons of the eighteenth century. "All jails of the time were most unsuitable for human beings, and 'jail fever' carried off not only the prisoners, but those who came in contact with them in the courts of justice. Even those responsible for the prisoners feared 'jail fever'."

The dean gave the main facts of Howard's life, from his birth in 1726, and how he was a contemporary of John Wesley. At that time brutality to prison inmates was the accepted standard of the day. With the courage of a Christian reformer, Howard dared all the prison ills to see things as they were in order to bring them to light. He met his death while investigating plague conditions in Russia.

STRENGTH COURAGE

"Howard was unafraid and faithful to the last, a man whose modesty went hand-in-hand with the supreme courage of a Christian in every sense of the term, not the least of whose qualities was his splendid liberalism and his willingness to lay down his life for his friend," the dean went on.

Howard's work did not bring immediate reforms, but the trail blazed by Howard was later made into something larger by Elizabeth and Thomas Fowell Buxton.

The dean urged that the work of the John Howard Society, a branch of which has recently been formed in Victoria, might include as objectives the better classification and segregation of prisoners, especially youthful offenders, many of whom were victims of economic conditions. He spoke of the need of fellowship and confidence and providing of employment for prisoners when freed and seeking to regain a place in society.

NOW SORE THROAT EASED IN LESS THAN 3 MINUTES!

Rawness, Irritation Go at Once
Note Directions for New Instant Treatment

Incredible as it may seem, doctors are now prescribing a way that relieves raw, painful sore throat in as little as 2 to 3 minutes!

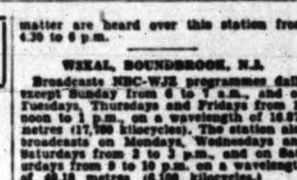

All you do is crush and stir 3 Aspirin tablets in 1/2 glass of water and gargle with it twice.

Aspirin tablets disintegrate so completely no irritating particles are left. Results are immediate. At once soreness is eased—discomfort allayed.

Everywhere throat specialists urge this fundamental treatment instead of less effective old-time "washes" and "antiseptics." Remember this. And when you buy, see that you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer on every Aspirin tablet. Aspirin is the trade mark of the Bayer Company, Limited.

LUMBER FIRE IN VANCOUVER

Canadian Press

Vancouver, March 6.—Fire swept through two dry hills of the B.C. Box Company in the Marpole district yesterday, destroying about 200,000 feet of lumber, and causing damage estimated at approximately $50,000.

Company officials said the loss was partially covered by insurance. The blaze would be rebuilt as soon as the debris had been cleared, they added.

The fire, believed to have started from a smoking pipe, burned for nearly four hours before it was brought under control.

STANDARDIZE BEER GLASSES

Hugh Savage Declares Government Should Require Uniform Size

Consumers of beer in both parcels should be protected by law to the extent of how they receive for their money, Hugh Savage, Independent, Colchester-Neuville, declared in the Legislature yesterday evening.

"I don't know whether the 'hush-hush' question of liquor is coming into the House this session," he said, "but one reform is essential and that is to lay down a standard size of container for beer."

"A definite weight in fluid ounces should be fixed as the amount a person should receive for a given price."

"The situation now is most amazing," Mr. Savage continued. "There is absolutely no control over the size of the glasses and there is no limit to the amount of liquor displayed to make the largest number of glasses out of a barrel of the chemical compound. Perhaps we could give some protection to the consumers under the Licensing Act."

Mr. Savage dealt with various matters. He attacked the budget, as "Dishonest," declared the province had gone behind about $7,000,000 in the last year and the prospects of the "questionable" refunding have not improved.

MONEY IN POLITICS

"We've got to learn that we're going to play in a new school of politics in which honesty is the best policy. Right now we're in the transition, and as soon as the new school wins, the better for British Columbia," he said.

He advocated higher taxation as the only way out of the province's financial difficulties.

If this was not done the province was headed for disaster. There had been a certain improvement in business, but no business men were looking into the clouds of gloom ahead with any confidence.

Great stress was placed on British Columbia's economic slavery to the east, and there had even been talk of secession. But secession talk was not only ridiculous, it was dangerous. British Columbia had not only its economic position in Canada to consider, but also the part it played in national defence. It was quite apparent the world was headed for international crisis. Great Britain was increasing its expenditures for defence and Canada's were hopelessly inadequate. The Japanese threat was serious.

SUPPORTS ALASKA HIGHWAY

For this reason he warmly advocated the building of the Alaska Highway and that immediate action be taken in this regard. Roads were good for other purposes besides tourism.

He submitted renewed argument for his "hope" plan for youth and said he had been informed by the secretary of the B.C. Loggers' Association that they could assist in the plan by taking youths into logging camps. He likened the character-building nature of the scheme to the Civilian Conservation Corps of the United States. The House was unanimous in believing the relief camps should be abolished, but no one would take any action to do so.

He was glad, however, to see that the government had made a start on the youth problem by the new apprenticeship plan of the Minister of Labor and the claims in prospecting.

DEPRESSION IS ROUND CORNER

Nelson-Creston Liberal Brings Optimistic Message to House

Despite the pessimistic talk of Opposition speakers, Frank Putnam, Liberal, Nelson-Creston, told the Legislature yesterday evening he felt sure "old man depression" had turned Tottenham corner and would soon be in the midst of a long nightmare.

The Putnam government was moving toward a better economic foundation, he felt.

He could vouch for the fact that

DEBT TOTAL STAGGERING

"We Know They Will Never Be Paid," Says C.C.F. Member of House

"Our generation will not be tied up to the hilt with the old-time financials. We know the present debt will never be paid and that is why we regard the House of Commons as a joke, telling us of the huge debt we owe," declared Ernest Macdonald, C.C.F. Member of House, speaking in the Budget debate in the Legislature yesterday.

"When you add up our federal, provincial and municipal debts, then combine them with private debts, the sum is simply staggering. It demonstrates quite clearly the folly of the capitalist system," he added.

Mr. Macdonald took the occasion to reply to a rebuke he had received from Premier Pattullo earlier in his session, by quoting a statement made by Mr. Pattullo when he was Minister of Lands in 1927 to the effect that there was no money for the debt situation and the lumber industry would have to give place to agriculture.

"In the light of what we know, I would like to suggest to the Premier that it would seem he is not so omnipotent as he is omnipresent," the member declared.

RAPS "PROVINCIALISTS"

To find the remedy for conditions, Mr. Macdonald said, he could not agree with the "provincialists" who raised the argument that eastern Canada had been robbing the west through tariffs, although, he added, "it is quite true the east has robbed us on the R. and N. Railway but alone they have robbed us of $80,000,000 in time."

The same thing held good in hydro-electric developments and other natural resources. But the robbers were not all in Ottawa, they were in Montreal, New York and San Francisco as well.

The Marketing Act was not sufficient to solve the farmers' problem, he claimed. They needed to study intensive farming and co-operative methods from Denmark, to co-ordination of farming and forestry from Germany, and mechanization of the industry from Russia.

Hopes that mining would pull the province out of the depression were a fallacy, he said. It was foolish to think that gold would provide wealth because very soon monetary reformers would persuade the people that money could be carried on without gold. In any case the value of gold could be changed by governments overnight. Transmutation of metals also might be discovered and ruin the whole basis of the industry.

For awhile the province's pin too much rests in the tourist industry. It was not a good thing to develop the country with only money that the young men of to-morrow would have to be "beer parlor preceptors or soda-water jerkers" and "junkies to tourists."

The falling industry needed rationalization, he said. Spawning grounds were being denuded by improper forestry methods. The industry was hopelessly out of date from a technical point of view, and the government should enforce scientific methods of operation.

The pulp and paper industry must prepare for radical changes to offset loss of markets threatened by competition from other countries. New Zealand was launching into pulp and paper production this year. Canada could move closer to the Pacific, and in the United States there was a big agitation for an embargo against Canadian newspaper.

There was a large field for investigation in all industries in the development of by-products, and the government should take an active part in covering it.

HELD FOR TRIAL

Toronto, March 6 (Canadian Press).—Police announced today they had arrested Sydney B. Williams, forty-two, of Toronto, Ont., negro, on a charge of criminally committing a first-year-old girl. A second negro, who police said lived in the same neighborhood with Williams, was held as a material witness. Police said Williams confessed attacking the girl last Saturday.

MORE VALUE FROM RELIEF

Substantial Projects Needed to Get Value, Says Major D. M. MacKay

A new process of sinking a vertical shaft through solid rock and drilling along the gutter, invented by an Australian engineer, is expected to be of incalculable value in making practicable the operation of the Cariboo deep placer deposits such as those of Lightning Creek.

Major D. M. MacKay, member for Cariboo, told the House, that thirty years' method of successfully operating this type of rich deposit has been sought without result, he said.

In order to facilitate development he suggested the government waive the tax on diesel oil until production actually commenced.

Major MacKay thought greater progress should be made towards the Liberal policy of profitable and permanent employment.

"We should be on the march, not standing still, resting on mere declarations," he said.

He expressed regret that the government did not show a greater effort to cut expenses by eliminating overlapping and luxuries in the way of public service. The present relief system, on which $3,000,000 had been spent in B.C. in 1934, had little to show for it. He advocated building such projects as a scenic highway from Whistler to Squamish, which would employ 2,500 men for five months and yield a valuable asset.

SOCIAL SERVICES

Major MacKay paid special tribute to Hon. George Webber for his efforts to introduce a system of social insurance against unemployment, sickness and accident, and said the insurance should be adequate to give a decent living standard. He regretted emergency measures of governments interfering in private business, which would be hard to get rid of, and urged a return of individualism.

In the course of an attack on the Dominion tariff which had reduced live stock exports to the vanishing point—he charged the packing plants with ruthless exploitation. "High prices to consumers, low returns to producers, big profits and big salaries to executives," he said. "These are the fruits of protection."

Stock raisers in the Cariboo received less than half the cost of production of their beef, when they shipped them to the Vancouver Live Stock Exchange, he said, being paid

"it should practically do away with harsh laxatives!"

Eaten regularly, 2 cakes a day, this new Yeast really CORRECTS constipation... thus also correcting many related troubles

THERE'S a new way of treating constipation now that doctors call "the greatest advance in years against this trouble." It is a new fresh yeast developed by an eminent scientist... called Fleischmann's XR Yeast.

As Dr. Summer, famous specialist (at right), says: "The cases I treated with this new 'strain' of yeast showed marked improvement—with normal evacuations."

Fleischmann's XR Yeast doesn't give you just temporary relief, but really "normalizes" your whole digestive tract. Your food digests more easily, wastes pass out regularly... your blood is purified. Such related ailments as stomach troubles, lack of appetite, bad breath are corrected in most cases.

You feel better, look better! Fleischmann's XR Yeast also helps you ward off colds by supplying the new "anti-infective" Vitamin A... and Vitamins B, D and G, too. It's the greatest vitamin food.

If you're now taking cathartics, cut them out gradually as the yeast "regulates" you.

Eat 2 cakes every day, plain, or dissolved in ½ glass of water—a half-hour before meals. At grocers, restaurants, drug stores, soda fountains.

MAKES RULING ON QUESTIONS

Speaker Says Queries on Current Public Accounts Need Not Be Answered

Information as to disbursements made by the government in the current year following the closing of the last published book of public accounts need not be given on the order paper of the Legislature, Mr. Speaker H. G. Perry ruled yesterday afternoon.

The question arose when H. H. Pooley, B.C. Unionist, Requist, asked last week for the details of the traveling expenses of the provincial delegation to Ottawa last summer.

The reply given by the Premier was that these amounts would appear in the public accounts in due course; that is, the public accounts will be published next year.

Mr. Pooley appealed to the Speaker against this form of answering the question.

In giving the ruling that the answer was in order, the Speaker referred to decisions of both ex-Speakers Davis and ex-Speaker Keen as precedent. He pointed out, however, that if this was not satisfactory to the member he could ask the house for a "return" of the information necessary.

Premier Pattullo dispensed with any need for argument on this point by immediately filing a return containing the desired information.

Mr. Pooley was not in the house at the time.

B.C. Could Produce Rubber, Aluminum

Dr. Allen Harris, South Okanagan, Tells Legislature What Could Be Done By Chemical Treatment of Province's Resources

Heralding the coming of the "Chemical Age," and pleading with passionate earnestness for governmental reorganization on twentieth century lines, Dr. Allen Harris, Liberal, South Okanagan, stirred the Legislature yesterday evening with his description of the marvelous possibilities that await a province so richly endowed as British Columbia with the resources and facilities for modern manufacturing enterprise.

He cited two products that British Columbia is especially well equipped to make: Artificial rubber from coal and aluminum from clay.

He exhibited an aluminum sardine can from Norway. In a desire to break the tinplate and aluminum monopolies that country had found that aluminum could be extracted from clay as well as from bauxite, on which latter process there is a patent monopoly.

Aluminum containers have the advantages that they can be labelled on the metal and require no paper labels, they do not cut the fingers, they are lighter and make a more presentable container, and when they are emptied they can be sold back to the factory and made into new containers.

British Columbia imports 11,000 of tinplate for the salmon industry and close to 15,000 tons for the milk and fruit industries, he said. The aluminum is to be found in the clays of this province.

An additional future market of vast potentiality lies in the reconstruction of railway stock out of aluminum.

"Every bit of rolling stock in this country is obsolete and will have to be replaced in the next decade with aluminum coaches," declared the member, citing the success achieved with cars of this material where they had been tried.

RUBBER FROM COAL

While a year ago his predictions of making rubber out of coal had been regarded as fanciful, Dr. Harris stated that rubber tires made from coal are now on the market in the United States and a former classmate of his, the chemist who perfected the process.

He also asserted that in the light of new discoveries in England that the manufacture of oil and gasoline and similar products from coal is now a commercial possibility.

He congratulated Hon. George Pearson, Minister of Mines, on having taken the proper attitude towards the tragic plight of the coal mine towns by directing the spotlight on these new developments. He expressed the hope that he would not rest on his oars after having obtained through the Macdonald commission definite data on the respective costs and merits of coal and oil fuels.

REORGANIZATION PLAN

His proposal for a modern reorganization of government on lines that will meet the challenges of the chemical age, including the following:

That the economic council be responsible to the Prime Minister as an adviser to the whole government, instead of to one department, and add to its membership one or two persons of trained technical and scientific experience.

That a department of natural resources be set up, whose minister should be responsible for co-ordinating the research work connected with forestry, fishing, mining, agriculture and the other special departments.

Minister of these sub-departments would be confined to administrative duties, leaving policy co-ordination to the minister of natural resources.

Should this be too drastic a reorganization, then he suggested that a provincial bureau of scientific research be established, using the laboratories of the University of British Columbia and taking over research work for all departments, leaving to the education department the teaching of the students.

KEEP SCIENTISTS AT HOME

Such a bureau, he said, would cost less than subsidizing one industry, and he recognized present financial conditions made such subsidizing out of the question. He had been assured that endowments would be speedily available to broaden its activities, and one of the most important of its benefits would be that British Columbia scientists now working for great corporations in foreign lands would be induced to return and contribute something towards the development of their own province.

Dr. Harris said he recognized the inequities under which British Columbia suffers under Confederation. Eastern interests wanted to keep British Columbia a land of raw materials, but he said the member and use for raw materials was dwindling in the face of subsidies and synthetic chemical products.

If the eastern interests will not recede, British Columbia's economic position through B.N.A. Act amendments and greater financial provisions, then he counselled Premier Pattullo to announce to the world that British Columbia is "going it alone."

"On that basis we can make, with our variety of resources and water power, this province into such a paradise that even the member for Fernie will not wish to go back to Russia," he declared.

POSSIBILITIES IN MINE FIELD

Although no new goldfields had been discovered through recent activity in his district, the country had hardly been scratched and there were fine opportunities for young prospectors in the field, W. J. Asselstine, M.P.P. for Atlin, told a meeting of the Round Table Club in Speddie's Cafe yesterday evening.

He noted mining was the principal activity in his constituency and outlined its importance to the remainder of the province.

Touching slightly on the history of the gold mining industry, he stated it had been started in Atlin as far back as 1859.

Old-fashioned methods had given way to the new flotation process to a large extent. He saw a bright future in the placer mining, which was still being run on an extensive scale.

CONTRACT OF FUTURE

Mr. Asselstine expressed his confidence in a great future for Atlin in the mining field and pointed to the need for young men with vision and confidence.

The development of the area, he believed, depended to a large extent on the creation of good roads and a new geological survey. Briefly he related the hope the Alaska-Yukon highway might be constructed.

J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture, gave a five-minute talk during the evening and George J. Waters was introduced as a new member.

SAYS PEOPLE WANT CHANGE
 Pre-election Statements of Party Leaders Unreliable, Russell Mark Tells C.C.F.

No credence can be placed upon the pre-election statements of Premier R. B. Bennett and the B.N.A. Act must be amended if it stands in the way of a better standard of living for the Canadian people, declared A. Russell Mark, in his address on "Winning Canada for the C.C.F." in the C.C.F. Hall yesterday evening. He also attacked radicals of various degrees of socialism.

"The Marxists are bothered with an inferiority complex and could not make a success of anything under any system of government," Mr. Mark said. "These preachers of class struggle talk rubbish. They are unbalanced intellects and cannot manage their own affairs, let alone those of a country. They attempt to tear down, not to co-operate. It is well that very few people listen to them."

"Did you ever hear one constructive idea at a Communist meeting?" Mr. Mark asked.

"Communists preach 'tear down, tear down,' Mr. Mark went on. "These of you who say you are being exploited are exploiters yourselves, even if you only own a few shares of stock or some bonds. Show me a man who preaches class struggle and I'll show you a man who cannot manage his own affairs."

"Consider the absurdity of our parliamentary system," Mr. Mark went on. "We elect men to represent us and we send in another group whose duty it is to frustrate their efforts."

"Before we can have a change in Canada, we must have the majority of people in favor of it. There are 2,300,000 persons in Canada earning their wages, roughly half the male adult population. The C.C.F. must gain the support of these people."

"Almost any day we may see a break up in some capitalist countries. The people want a change, but first they must formulate a progressive plan of rule for the common good. Roosevelt is selling out to the capitalists and his pouring of money into a decadent system cannot go on indefinitely."

"The average Canadian realizes socialism was a foreign importation and preferred a plan of government designed and developed in the country. We must convince the people of Canada that the path of the C.C.F. is one of co-operation and fellowship and not one of hatred and class struggle. We must seek a change through constitutional means in this country. We must preach and practice the brotherhood of man. It is to be hoped that the day will soon dawn when everybody is together for the common good under the banner of the C.C.F."

LAST RITES THURSDAY
 Funeral services for John Allen Dames, who died Monday, will be conducted to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock at St. Andrew's Cathedral. Rev. Father E. M. Scheel officiating. The cortege will leave St. Andrew's Cathedral at 10:30 o'clock for the cemetery.

Adjutant and Mrs. Mephum, returned missionary officers from the Dutch East Indies, will lead a special meeting to-night in the Salvation Army Citadel, Broad Street, commencing at 8 o'clock. They have been engaged in hospital work during their seven years' stay, six years being spent in Java and the last year in Celebes. Part of their first year in Java was spent in the latter colony, supervised by the Salvation Army. Both the adjutant and Mrs. Mephum and their two boys took part in the programme given by the young people of the Broad Street Citadel last night, all appearing in Japanese costume. Their addresses on life in the Dutch East Indies will make to-night's meeting extremely interesting. The public is invited.

Burns Club to Stage Concert at Sooke
 The Burns Club of Victoria will take a party of singers, actors and pipers to Sooke on Friday evening for the purpose of putting on a concert in the Sooke Hall in aid of the Sooke Presbyterian Church.

A good programme has been arranged as follows: Bagpipe selections by Pipe Major Donald Cameron; vocal solos by Miss C. Denison and Alex. McGowan; recitations by Miss McGowan, Highland dancing by the Misses Lillian Grant and Owen Dewar, and a short play, "Homeward Bound," written by Mrs. Duncan McBurnie, who will take the leading part in it, and will be assisted by Mrs. W. A. Jameson, Duncan McBride and W. B. Grant.

Important Session Of Elks To-morrow
 To-morrow evening, at 8:15 o'clock, an important meeting of Victoria Lodge No. 2, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will be held in the lodge quarters, Douglas Street.

A feature of the evening will be the initiation of a large number of candidates. Dominion Grand Organist P. A. Miquelon will speak during the meeting.

Funeral To-morrow Of James Harris
 Funeral services for James Harris, who passed away Monday at his home, Portage Avenue and Connaught Street, Strawberry Vale, will be held to-morrow morning at 10:30 o'clock from the C. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home. Rev. J. H. A. Warr will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in the Colwood Rural Park.

The late Mr. Harris was born in Belleville, Ontario, and came to this province many years ago. For twenty years he has been a resident of this city and district, living for some years on Ruby Road, Gordon Road, previous to moving to Strawberry Vale.

Father J. A. Gaudette. Interment will be in Rose Bay Cemetery.

LITTLE CHILD DIES
 Funeral services for Roberta Rita Baldwin, aged three years, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Baldwin, 1533 Clarendon Avenue, who passed away Monday evening at the Jubilee Hospital, will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Thompson Funeral Home. Rev. F. W. Weaver will officiate and interment will be in Rose Bay Cemetery.

THREE ESCAPED CONVICTS CAUGHT
 Fairview, Okla., March 6.—Bloodhounds and guns brought to the end of a crime-ridden trail yesterday morning as three escaped convicts who terrorized western Oklahoma for two weeks were captured.

The three were trapped by dogs in a dense near here. They were captured after a gun battle in which state officers, federal agents and deputies of three counties took part.

Shiley Kuykendall, twenty, leader of the three, was shot and taken to the Granville, Okla., state reformatory February 17, slaying a guard, came out of the reformatory with pistol blazing.

He and Baker, eighteen, surrendered, however, when possession of the red-haired Kuykendall. The third fugitive, Dale Stanghail, twenty-one, fled when the dogs drew near and was captured at a farm house nearby.

All three now face possible charges of kidnapping and will be held in electric cages.

DANIEL ELECTS FOR JURY TRIAL

His Decision Makes Holding of Criminal Assizes Here Next Week Definite

Police had a line-up of four men sent up for trial on criminal charges waiting for Judge Lampman to-day.

They were Cliff Dauby, Owen Petticrew and Hugh Petticrew, all charged with robbery, and E. M. Daniel on a morality charge.

Prosecutor W. B. Colvin of the Attorney-General's department, who was there for the Crown, with A. J. Patton as defence counsel for the two Petticrews, P. R. Leighton defence counsel for Dauby and J. B. Clearhise defence counsel for Daniel.

Just before the judge took his seat on the Bench, the police squad received orders to take Dauby and the Petticrews to the City Jail, because the depositions were not ready due to a change and continuation of proceedings in the police court. The three young men, all handcuffed together, were taken down the elevator and away in a police car. They will be brought back before Judge Lampman at the conclusion of the police court proceedings.

Daniel was left as the only prisoner to be called for election. When the judge asked him to elect his manner of trial, he said he would take a full assize court trial before a jury.

The judge therefore passed him on to the assize court, which will open here next Monday, and returned the other three to the City Jail, because he had not elected for jury trial. It was stated the criminal assizes here would have been called off as there was only one case to look up and that a minor nature, which would permit of it being traversed until the next regular assize.

BROTHERS FACE SECOND CHARGE
 A second charge of breaking and entering was laid in the City Police Court this morning against Owen and Hugh Petticrew, Victoria brothers, who have already been committed for trial on a charge of $1,000 robbery of the People's Market, Esquimalt.

The charge alleged the brothers entered and robbed the Playhouse Theatre, Yates Street, on the morning of March 4.

A. J. Patton, defence counsel, this morning pleaded not guilty and elected preliminary hearing. The case was remanded until Friday morning, when it is expected to proceed.

BOMBS ARE SET OFF IN HAVANA
 Associated Press
 HAVANA, March 6.—One man was killed, at least eight were injured, and mid-town Havana was thrown into an uproar to-day as a machine gun and several bomb explosions followed in the wake of strikes.

Unidentified assailants armed with machine guns attacked an automobile in which Ramon Vasconcelos, prominent Liberal, was riding with friends. One of his friends was killed and two were wounded.

Vasconcelos, who has been recognized as the Liberal Party one led by former President Gerardo Machado, was not hurt.

CIVIL SERVANTS OUT
 Employees of the departments of labor, education and the treasury went on strike at 1 p.m., declaring they did not intend to return to work.

A few minutes later a bomb exploded inside the main building of the treasury, wounding one person.

All members of the strike, who were on the island's south coast, quit their jobs.

Wildcat confusion prevailed in the customs house, where three bombs went off in rapid fire.

The public employees went on strike in sympathy with 300,000 striking students and teachers, whose movement has been the aim of the overthrow of President Carlos Menéndez's government.

COMBINES ACT CHARGES URGED
 Ottawa, March 6.—First reading was given yesterday in the Senate to a measure amending the Combines Investigation Act and the Criminal Code.

The sponsor of the bill, Senator J. P. B. Carignan, Montreal, said it amends provisions of the Combines Investigation Act of a combine. He elected to stand on the rule which calls for explanation on second reading only and declined to elaborate.

The bill is to be printed.

TWO DEPUTIES DUEL IN PARIS
 One Wounded in Pistol Fight at Dawn in Football Stadium

Associated Press
 Paris, March 6.—Two Corsican members of the Chamber of Deputies fought a duel at dawn to-day in a football stadium on the outskirts of Paris, and then left the field of honor unharmed after one had been wounded.

Cesar Campitelli came off second best in the encounter, being struck in the wrist in the first exchange of shots with his adversary, Horace de Carbutia. He was taken to a hospital for treatment. The bullet passed through his right forearm, causing "slight arterial hemorrhage."

At the "firing" from the referees, Campitelli raised his weapon, fired and missed. Carbutia fired several seconds later.

As Campitelli lifted his arm a second time, his wrist dropped, limp and helpless. He seconds rushed to his side and then summoned his physician.

The encounter ended there, the seconds taking charge of the pistols and firing the second round, provided for by the dueling code, into the stadium wall.

Jean Joseph Raymond, one of France's most famous swordsmen, was the referee.

To-day's duel was the fourth known to have been held between politicians in the last fourteen months.

JOHN KELLOGG OF CHICAGO DIES
 Associated Press
 Miami Beach, Fla., March 6.—John Kellogg, forty-eight, wealthy Chicago grain merchant, died of a recurrent hemorrhage in hospital here to-day.

He was president of the John Kellogg Company, operators of "Brain Food" cereal, and a member of the Chicago Board of Trade and other exchanges.

Island Basketball Play-offs To-night

Hoyle-Brown Battle Duncan in Opening Game of Men's Senior B Series; Dealats Face Ladysmith With One-point Deficit; First Tussle at 7.30 o'clock

With Island basketball championships at stake, three Victoria champion outfits will be seen in action at the High School gym this evening against teams from up-Island. In the feature clash at 7.30 o'clock, Hoyle-Brown will oppose Duncan in the opening game of the men's senior B play-offs. This is a two-game home and home series with total points to count.

The opening engagement at 7.30 o'clock will see the Victoria Dealats and Ladysmith meet in the second game of the intermediate A boys' Island semi-finals. In the first game at Ladysmith yesterday evening the Dealats dropped a 26 to 27 decision, but are favored to win on their home floor by a comfortable margin.

At 8.30 o'clock Jack Taylor's Cardinals will clash with Northfield Wide Awake in the second game of the intermediate A girls' Island final. The first game played at Nanaimo saw Cards chalk up a 23 to 13 victory, and with a thirty-nine point margin the second game is only a formality.

DEALATS MEAT
Yesterday evening, on the up-island court, the Dealats dropped a close decision to the Ladysmith quintette after a game that was a battle all the way.

The Dealats opened fast, and ran up a small lead before the Ladysmith boys hit their stride to forge ahead 15 to 18 at the half way mark.

GOOD FINISH
In the second half the up-Islanders increased their lead, only to have the local team through with a blazing finish that brought them within one point of the Ladysmith team.

On their home court, and before a Victoria crowd, the Dealats should be able to overcome the one point lead and take the series.

Team and scores follow:
Ladysmith-Battle (1), Sharp (10), Simpson (7), Timothy (3), McMurtry (3), McNeil (3) and Ems. Total, 28.

Victoria Dealats-West (2), Bobb (12), Shepherd (11), McDonald (10), McLean (3), Campbell, Coates, Lancel and Hayman. Total, 27.

BIG SEVEN OF MAJOR HOCKEY

Harvey Jackson, Toronto Maple Leafs, bounced back into second position in the National Hockey League big seven to-day.

The "Red Line" of the Leafs went on a scoring spree yesterday evening and Jackson set three assists and his big teammate Chuck Conacher scored four goals to take a clear lead of ten points in the rankings.

The standings follow:

G. A. Pts.
Conacher, Toronto	21 20 51

WINS INTERNATIONAL DOG DERBY

When Harry Wheeler of St. Jovite (inset), finished first in the recent International Dog Derby at Quebec City he established himself as the best musher on the continent for 1935. He drove his Siberian dogs to victory by a wide margin. The main picture shows the official start of the Dog Derby with Alex Beiford of Louisiana, New Hampshire, only United States entry in the race, about to be the first starter.

WESTERN RINKS ALL DEFEATED

Fare Badly in First Round of Macdonald Brier Trophy Curling in East

Toronto, March 6.—Ontario and Nova Scotia yesterday evening remained the only undefeated rinks among eight seeking the Canadian curling championship.

In the first two rounds of play yesterday for the Macdonald Brier Trophy, history was made when all western rinks went down to defeat in one round, and Manitoba provided the big upset by losing both morning and afternoon rounds.

Alberta, Quebec, Saskatchewan and Northern Ontario split on the two rounds, while New Brunswick joined Manitoba with no victories and two defeats.

BALL GOSSIP

West Palm Beach, Fla.—Johnny Burnett, hard-hitting infielder of the St. Louis Browns, acquired from Cleveland, is proving one of Manager Rogers Hornsby's biggest problems.

The Browns need his punch, but Burnett's fielding is far from finished.

Bradenton, Fla.—Manager Frank Frisch planned only a routine practice to-day for his St. Louis Cardinals pending the arrival of the remainder of the squad to-morrow.

Joe Medwick, stubborn holdout, is due to arrive then for a conference with President Sam Breadon. Joe is reported to have demanded $10,000, away and beyond the Cards' offer.

Fort Myers, Fla.—With a first casualty of the season in their camp, Philadelphia Athletics took a day of rest to-day preparatory to resuming their series with the Yankees.

In a lively game between the two teams, the Yankees took a 7 to 5 beating yesterday from the regulars, and Charley Moss, Tanager right fielder, suffered a split thumb while playing backstop.

Orlando, Fla.—Danny Taylor has reported to training camp in top condition and the Brooklyn Dodgers have Stanley Bordagary to thank for it.

Taylor, who weighed over 300 pounds at this time last year, scales a neat 185 to-day, chiefly because he knows he has a battle on his hands to keep his left-field job out of the hands of Borgardy, highly-touted recruit the Dodgers brought during the winter.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Sabe Ruth apparently has an eye on the home as well as on one business at hand. The Boston Braves' training camp was cluttered with spectators—a notable number of them.

"If we have crowds like that for our exhibition games," Ruth observed to Secretary Cunningham, "it would give us a nice real start."

He added that he intended playing Saturday against the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa.

Labeland, Fla.—If Schoolboy Rowe did not think it would make him sound like Dixie Dean "popping off," he would let the Detroit Tigers count on him to pitch thirty winning ball games this season. So he confined himself to a modest twenty-five.

"I figure I can work at least seven games a month," he said.

English Football Referees Advised

Officials Given Instructions With View to Improve Standard of Refereeing and Eliminate Foul Play; Linesmen Must Co-operate

Special to The Times
London, March 6.—In order to remedy unfair play and remove any excuse for scenes or incidents, of which there have been far too many of late, the council of the Football Association have issued instructions intended to improve the standard of refereeing and eliminate foul play from the game.

Attention is called to decisions of the International Board, contained in The Referee's Chart and Player's Guide, which must be strictly observed.

The duties of the linesmen must not be neglected, but intelligent co-operation with the referee is essential so that every section of the play is under the scrutiny of at least one official.

Neither on the field nor off should referees discuss or argue about decisions.

Referees must use their powers to the utmost to suppress rough play and ungentlemanly conduct.

Clubs must remember that they are responsible for offences committed by players.

The decisions of the council and international board must be observed. When the referee has given his decision and play has been resumed, he must not alter it.

A FIRM HAND
The duty of referees is to administer justice fairly and fearlessly. A firm hand in the opening minutes of the game will prove invaluable, indicating a rigid control by the officials who will thus win the respect of players and spectators. Only well-trained and athletic officials can do this.

A referee must be confident of his ability to control and be self-reliant. Linesmen are his assistants and he must encourage their co-operation in obtaining efficient control.

A referee should judge a player's intention, and detect by demeanor if he is observing the spirit of the game. The player who resents a good charge or causes an opponent to come limping away from a tackle must be dealt with promptly. The player who, when fouled, tries to "get his own back," and the man who rolls over in apparent agony when scarcely hurt in order to get fouls given against his opponents must be firmly treated.

The ball must be placed in position and the referee's signal awaited before all free kicks.

The practice of a fullback kicking the ball into the goalkeeper's hands before it is placed in position or a goalkeeper punting the ball away before properly placed should never be permitted.

Strut is laid on the law that opponents must not approach within ten yards of the ball until the kick has been taken unless standing on their own goal-line between the goal posts.

PENALTY KICKS
If the referee measures the distance, players must keep beyond the distance marked out. The ten yard mark applies particularly to all players except the goalkeeper and kicker when a penalty has been awarded, and the goalkeeper must stand on the line without moving his feet. If a defending player infringes and the kick fails, it should be retaken, but if attacking players encroach, a goal should be disallowed.

Players must not be allowed to hinder opponents taking free-kicks or throw-ins.

Referees are advised to keep an imaginary line either down the centre of the field or diagonally across the playing area. Linesmen should work in agreement on their side according to the run of the play, one of them being favorably placed ready for a breakaway.
